HFPA Invites Community to Discuss “The Last Lecture”

Flossmoor, Ill. April 14, 2010— The Homewood-Flossmoor High School Parent Association (HFPA) invites all interested students, parents and community members to attend a family book discussion of “The Last Lecture,” Randy Pausch’s inspirational best-seller. The discussion will take place on Wed., April 14 at 7 p.m. in the H-F Library.

“The Last Lecture” is one of this year’s H-F Reads selections. H-F Reads is a school-wide reading program with the mission of creating a culture of reading and literacy through sharing books centered on a common theme. In honor of H-F’s 50th Anniversary, this year’s theme is School Days, Then and Now. Earlier this year, we read “A Separate Peace” by John Knowles, and selected books by award-winning young adult author Sharon Draper.

The enduring themes in “The Last Lecture” – overcoming obstacles, seizing every moment, and helping others make their dreams come true – makes it an inspiration to all generations, and ideal for a family book discussion. The evening should be inspirational as H-F parents, students and community members share their perspectives on a book that has influenced so many people.

A limited number of copies of the book will be available for checkout at the H-F Library and the Flossmoor Public Library. Registration is not required for this event, and light refreshments will be served. For more information, please contact the H-F Library at 708-335-5566.
